

All Write!!!

Need some help? Look at the highlighted words in the table below. If you selected these examples then your piece of writing would be written from a bird of preys' perspective and would include a procedure for how to catch dinner. The bird would be writing as though it was teaching its young. This might be a suitable piece to present to a year 1 student. But don't restrict yourself to the things listed in this table-invent some of your own and get writing.
